Remarks

The bug is based on a scenario that was not observed in actual application. The severity and priority level of the bug are assigned assuming that the bug is reproducible and consistent in a real environment.

The severity is marked Major because it impacts core functionality that is category-based organization of notes and leads to incorrect information being displayed to the user.

The priority is marked High because it's a visible issue that degrades the user experience and needs to be addressed before release, even though it doesn't block access to the app.

The potential issues might be:

1. Issue in frontend filtering that shows notes in wrong category tab.
2. Mismatch between selected and saved category.
3. Incorrect category mapping during note creation.
